Of Defective Vision

Many persons have the idea that defective vision manifests itself only in a failure or inability to see clearly, but itching, burning, smarting of the lids, dull pains in the eyes or head, even the back of the head, all come from irregularities in the optical construction of the eyes and may be entirely relieved by correctly fitted glasses.

DR. J. T. JOHNSON Guarantees to correct every case that he undertakes. If your eyes are giving annoyance consult him at once.

PASSED INTO HISTORY.

The Last Legislature of the Nineteenth Century.

The general assembly of North Carolina, for 1898, ended yesterday at high noon, according to the clocks in the senate and house.

In truth, however, it was exactly 2:08 o'clock, standard time, when the gavel fell for the last time, when the timepieces were often tampered with before the two houses were declared adjourned for the session.

The hands of the clock in the house were first turned back half an hour at 10:15. At 10 o'clock another set back overtook them, and then when they had crept up to 11:45 the clock was stopped not to be started again till the work of the day was completed.

At 2:02 o'clock the last law—the Stevens anti-trust bill—was ratified, the business of the session was declared at an end, Speaker Connor delivered his farewell address and the general assembly of 1898 passed into history; and its record went to the people of North Carolina to make up their verdict.

It was a queer sight—this adjournment. One that must be historic, for in it the house and senate strangely swapped places. The senate lost its dignity for forgot it—and the house, usually so abounding in incident and sensation, somehow found it. With burst of patriotic song, in which senators on the floor and spectators in the gallery joined, the upper branch of the general assembly came to its end. A sort of dying swan's song to be sure, in which lusty, high-pitched voices took the place of softer notes.

Finally, to remedy this defect, the ladies in the gallery were invited upon the floor to join in the music-making, an invitation they gladly accepted and soon the fretted columns and curving dome of the old capital rang with sweeter tones than have been heard there in many a day, if indeed ever before.

Hence I say it was an historic scene—one such has not been witnessed there before within the recollection of the oldest member.

In the house there was quite a different scene. Having been in almost continuous session for two solid weeks, the members were utterly fagged out and the closing duties were perfunctorily performed. With the end of the terrible strain had come a loss of spirit, almost a collapse. Notwithstanding the joy of home-going there were faces pale from exhaustion and loss of sleep and line-marked features made so by nervous strain and anxious thought.

Finally, wondering at the strange humors, the senate in a body, accompanied by the ladies that had been joining it in song and merry-making, came into the house and tried to 'jolly' it into life and enthusiasm. Somehow it did not succeed, and ten minutes after it had retired, both houses adjourned to meet again on Tuesday after the second Monday in June 1900.

The galleries of both houses were well filled with spectators, principally ladies—to witness the final session of a legislature that must be memorable in the annals of the state. And nothing had been further from their thoughts, when they came, than being called on to take part in these closing scenes.—News and Observer.

Railroad Man Drops Dead.

News was received here this morning of the sudden death, on yesterday, of Freight Conductor Dixon, of the Atlantic Coast Line. He was on the top of a car of his train and dropped dead when about 35 miles from Selma. He was well known and highly respected by railroad men here and the news of his death was the cause of much regret. His death is supposed to have been due to heart failure. The deceased leaves a wife and two children. The body was taken to his home in Selma and prepared for interment.

DEWEY IS IN FAILING HEALTH

Said That he Cannot Last Much Longer Unless Relieved of the Fearful Mental Strain.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Mar. 9.—All the powers are concentrating their naval forces in the far east. England has in Asiatic waters three battleships, twelve cruisers, four torpedo boat destroyers and fourteen sloops and gunboats; Russia has two battleships, six cruisers and six gunboats; France has nine cruisers; Germany has eight cruisers and Italy brings up the rear with four.

DEWEY FAILING FAST.

Vancouver, Mar. 9.—Capt. Frazer, of London, from Manila, says the war hero will have to end soon or the life of the great admiral (Dewey) will be worth nothing. If he is not relieved of the terrible strain he will not last a month longer; his hair is snowy white, his face is ashen and he has no appetite.

Washington, Mar. 9.—Robert B. Dashiell, assistant naval constructor, U. S. Navy, died last night at his home here. Mr. J. M. Howlett Dead.

Mr. J. M. Howlett, an old citizen of Greensboro and a brother of L. C. Howlett, was found dead in his bed this morning at Mrs. Paschal's boarding house, on South Elm street. He had been in declining health about a year, but had been confined to his room but about a week before his death. Dr. Turner called on him last night and he said he was feeling better and did not think an attendant necessary.

The remains will be interred in Green Hill cemetery at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Two Big Men.

Today about noon we were passing the corner of Fayetteville and South Elm streets and saw a Murray of Chattanooga in conversation with Mr. F. V. Snell of this city. Mr. Murray weighs 329 pounds and Mr. Snell tips the beam at 322, a total for the two men of 651 pounds. The newspaper man went in search of a man with a kodak; but before finding him the big men had separated.

GEN. GORDON'S LECTURE.

Thrilling, Soul-Stirring and Eloquent. Crowded House.

The academy of music was crowded last night to hear Gen. John B. Gordon, the distinguished Georgian, deliver his famous lecture "The Last Days of the Confederacy." A number who were present had heard the lecture before but they listened no less intently last night, for the lecture abounds in marvelous incident and beautiful sentiment. On the stage, seated to the right and left and in the rear of the speaker were a number of Confederate veterans, to whom he would turn occasionally and familiarly address them as "boys."

General Gordon was introduced by Col. J. T. Morehead in short but eminently fitting remarks. The great Georgian, who was a distinguished commander in the civil war, is a man whose looks are now white from length of years, but whose form is yet erect, with a military bearing that at once attracts the eye and elicits admiration. His descriptive powers are unsurpassed and when he rises to a flight of oratory in describing a hot contest his eyes flash and sparkle as if he saw over again the flashing sword and gleaming bayonet.

"The Last Days of the Confederacy" is a theme that will live and be enjoyed as long as there is a single brave man living who wore either the gray or the blue, for the soldiers of the Union and Confederate armies are placed beyond and above the old idea of combating foes, upon the high plane of the grand and glorious American citizen. In closing General Gordon grew grandly eloquent in commending the Stars and Stripes to the people of all sections.

GODFREY IN WASHINGTON.

A Friendly Audience and a Splendid Program.

The Washington Times of yesterday says:

"A distinctly friendly audience—one so friendly that when both were rendered it greeted our own 'The Star Spangled Banner' with silence that it might compliment its visitors the better by cheering 'God Save the Queen'—gathered at the Columbia yesterday to welcome Lieut. Dan Godfrey and the British Guards Band. Besides being kindly disposed, this assembly was large and fashionable and might have proven critical had there been any need for criticism. Director Sankelmann occupied a stage box and his organization two rows of orchestra chairs out of compliment to the foreigners, for whose skilled work they manifested musically regard."

"The band of which Lieutenant Godfrey is leader numbers about forty men, all of whom are clad in handsome uniforms and who are most prepossessing in appearance. It was last heard in this country in 1872, when, under the title of the Grenadier Guards, it formed a feature of the Boston peace jubilee arranged by Pat Gilmore. Many of those in the house last evening had attended that festival and did not seem to think the combination had deteriorated since its memorable conquest then."

The Times then goes on to elaborate and particularize as to the program rendered, giving it the highest encomiums of praise. This famous band of musicians will appear before a Greensboro audience in the G. F. College chapel tonight.

Change of Management.

We learned too late for publication yesterday that W. J. Blackburn had sold his interest in the Academy of Music, to C. N. McAdoo. Mr. Blackburn retiring as manager. The Academy will hereafter be conducted under the management of Messrs. C. N. and T. J. McAdoo, who will, we feel sure, maintain the present high standard and contract with good companies only. The Telegram wishes them much success.

Mr. Blackburn's many friends will regret his retirement, but are pleased that he has a worthy successor in Mr. McAdoo.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Toulon, Mar. 9.—The committee of inquiry attributes the explosion to an accident. The commission believes the alleged attempt to cause the second explosion to be a practical joke as the fifteen cartridges found a few years old and harmless.

PLANS FOR SOUTHERN TRIP

The President is Going to Take a Vacation.

WILL PASS THROUGH GREENSBORO

He is Fond of Water and May Take a Boat Ride While Off—Washington City Gossip.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 9.—Plans for the president's southern trip are being gradually mapped out. It is expected that the party will leave Washington over the Southern railroad, about the 15th, going direct to Thomasville, Ga. the home of Senator Hanna. Only such stops as are absolutely necessary will be made, including one of fifteen minutes, or so, at Charlotte, N. C. At the white house Wednesday afternoon it was stated that it is not probable that the president will extend his trip and that it will be more extensive than was at first contemplated. The president is very fond of the water and if he can spare the time from Washington is considering the advisability of taking a sea trip, touching at various points in Georgia and Florida. If he concludes to take this trip he will probably go to Jacksonville, taking a government vessel from Savannah, after remaining at Thomasville for a fortnight. He may go as far south as Miami, but this is not yet definitely decided upon. The presidential party for reasons which are well known will not carry out his desire to visit Cuba during the present spring.

The presidential party "ill consist of President and Mrs. McKinley, Vice President and Mrs. Hobart, Senator and Mrs. Hanna, and some of the cabinet, and perhaps ex-Secretary Bliss.

Dr. Carey, of Caribou, Maine, was in the city yesterday enroute home, from Raleigh, N. C., with the remains of his wife, who died at Raleigh several weeks ago. Mrs. Carey had been in poor health for quite a long time, suffering from bronchial trouble, and went south in the hopes that a change in the climate might benefit her. Dr. Carey is a son of Hon. Sheppard Carey who was a member of congress from Maine in anti-bellum days.

Much road is expected from the visit of the congressional party to the south. The idea of such a trip originated with Senator Tillman and Representative Latimer, of South Carolina, and the principal object in view is to enable the members from the states composing the party to become personally familiar with the southern section of the country, and its needs in the way of congressional legislation. The efforts of the South Carolina delegation has been heartily seconded by other southern states of the union and before the party left Washington they received many invitations from different southern cities which desired to entertain and honor the distinguished statesmen.

Mr. John Addison Porter, private secretary to the president, returned to Washington Wednesday morning from an extended trip to Florida. While away he took occasion to visit Nassau where he met several Washington people. Among others whom Secretary Porter met at Nassau were former district Commissioner Truesdell, and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oyster. The Secretary feels much benefited by his vacation, and will resume his duties at once.

Senator McMillan, of Michigan, will leave Washington for a visit to Georgia and Florida next week, going as far south as St. Augustine. The trip is to be taken for the purpose of enabling the Senator to obtain rest from his labors during the last session of congress. Senator McMillan will spend a large portion of the recess at Washington, keeping his home here open during the summer, according to his usual custom. After his visit south he will spend several weeks at his home.

Much interest was felt in the wedding of Mr. Howard N. Thompson and Miss Dressell, which occurred Tuesday at Asheville, North Carolina. Mr. Thompson is a well known Washington newspaper man, having been the representative of the Associated Press correspondence during the Spanish war.

Postoffice has been established at Burnhill, Ashe county, North Carolina. Fannie A. Shepherd has been commissioned postmaster.

Mr. C. J. Harris, of Dillsboro, North Carolina, a prominent resident of the state, is at the Shoreham hotel for a few days.

Mr. J. L. Phillips, of Charlotte, N. C., is registered at the St. James hotel.

Hurricane on Black Sea.

St. Petersburg, March 9.—In a hurricane which has been raging the past four days on the Black sea, two English steamships went ashore near Poti, a Turkish steamer was wrecked, a sailing ship was sunk and her crew perished.

THE CLOSING HOURS.

Yesterday at high noon witnessed the last tap of the gavel in the legislature of 1899. The senate closed with a burst of patriotic song, in which the ladies present were invited to join. The house, weary with an almost continuous session for several days, closed as a hardworked and weary man closes his laborious day's work and stretches his tired limbs on his couch in the twilight hour.

The last incident in the house was most fitting and pleasing. The members, through Hon. Lee S. Overman, who made a most beautiful speech, presented to Speaker Connor an elegant silver service. Judge Connor's response in accepting it was delivered in a husky voice and in plain simple words that sprang direct from an appreciative breast. He has made a model presiding officer and departs for his home carrying with him the love and admiration of the entire legislature. He was thanked and commended for his courtesy, impartiality and ability by democrat, republican and populist members alike.

Our attention has been called to a statement recently printed concerning a petition of some six hundred anti-dispensary white voters, who, it is claimed, live in the city of Greensboro. There are people who are curious enough to want to read and read over those six hundred names of anti-dispensary "white voters", and The Telegram will offer to publish the entire list if some friend will favor us with the original.

If the United States takes Mexico, Central and South America in out of the rain, as predicted by one Mr. Rhodes, Miss Columbia will have flags enough for a crazy quilt, and Uncle Sam may be running the Argentina Limited via Nicaragua canal to Terra del Fuego with steam heat or refrigerator cars, according to the climate.

We could not help regretting that Gen. Gordon in his tribute to the south did not mention Bagley, the sailor boy, who died with a smile on his lips, and Shipp, the man who had a right to a place of safety, and died in the thick of the fray because he thought it his duty to be there.

It has been said that North Carolina makes much history, writes little and reads less. The recent appropriations to education will do much to refute these accusations which are unworthy of a brave and patriotic people.

The coming spring election in the city of Charlotte promises to be an interesting one. Already the papers of that city contain many letters extolling the eminent fitness of different candidates for the mayoralty.

Not one child dies where ten formerly died from croup. People have learned the value of One Minute Cough Cure and use it for severe lung and throat troubles. It immediately stops coughing. It never fails. Howard Gardner.

Forty-seven warrants were issued at St. Louis, Mo., yesterday for violators of the Sunday liquor law.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Howard Gardner.

William Cotter, engineer of an ocean steamer, is under arrest at New York for smuggling opium.

Millions Given Away.
It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on C. E. Holton, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50 and 101. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

Had Nerve as Well as Weight.

In one of the newspapers composing rooms in this city there is a typesetting machine operator who is a great lover of horse racing. A good share of his wages goes to the bookmakers at the local tracks during the racing season, although for some reason he never acquires the poolroom habit and has always refused to put down a bet unless he was "there to see how the dogs ran." He is fully six feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds. His size suggested a joke to one of his friends during the racing season last summer.

"Going to Sheephead Bay today?" the friend asked.

"I'd like to, but if I go I won't have much left to bet with."

"I can give you a jockey's badge," said the friend.

"Gimme it," replied the printer, eagerly, never realizing the ridiculous contrast between his size and that of even the heavyweight jockeys. Armed with the jockey's badge, he presented himself at the race track gate and showed his badge. The ticket taker looked at him in astonishment.

"Great Scott!" he finally blurted out, "wot do you ride—the elephant?"

"There's one entered in the fifth race," was the reply. And his nerve so paralyzed the gatekeeper that he was admitted.—New York Sun.

Hot Times.

"I can remember a good many years back," said a Detroit veteran in politics, "and, whatever may be said as to the integrity of our present statesmen, campaigns are conducted in a great deal more moderate tone than they used to be. Then it was the usual thing to indulge in the strongest possible abuse of men and parties."

"I once heard a joint debate between a couple of candidates for our legislature that will serve to illustrate. They taunted and berated each other till all other questions were lost sight of in the popular anxiety to see which excelled in this style of warfare."

"Finally the hotter headed of the two burst out in an announcement that he could whip his rival or any of his friends."

"That reminds me," said the other coolly, "of a dog my father used to have that could whip any dog in the neighborhood or any that came that way with the teamsters."

"What's the application, sir?" roared the other. "I'll stand no innuendoes, sir. Make your application, if you dare."

"It is simply this, my pugnacious friend—no one ever thought of sending father's dog to the legislature."

The fire eater remained at home.—Detroit Free Press.

A Beetle That Cuts Metal.

There is no use trying to keep in confinement a curious little creature known as the metal cutting beetle.

Not long ago an entomologist caught one of these beetles and, unaware of its peculiar ability for sawing through anything in its way, put it in a cardboard box. Soon stirring of solitary confinement or perhaps thinking its captor had forgotten to provide it with a door, the beetle cut one for itself and crawled out.

It was captured and put in a wooden box, and as soon as the novelty of its home wore off, again the persevering insect cut a hole in the box and escaped.

The next time the escaped prisoner was caught it was put in a small glass jar with a tight fitting pewter cover. Punctured to let in air. But the metal cutting beetle from Mexico seemed to live in a pepper box and gnawed a hole big enough to allow it to creep out into the big world again. And this time it was not caught.

Primitive Pipes.

The earliest Indian pipes were simply tubes, in one end of which the tobacco or dried leaves were put. It has been found that the pipes used by the ancient Romans were made on the same plan. The bowl being an invention reserved for a comparatively recent day. It is worthy mentioning incidentally that the cigarette is really an invention of the Indians. They made cigarettes just like those now in use, with wrappers of the thinnest corn husks.

There is a popular notion, by the way, that paper used for modern cigarettes is destructive to health and apt to be saturated with drugs. Facts do not warrant this idea, inasmuch as the best cigarette paper is quite harmless. Being made out of new linen rags from the refuse left over in the manufacture of shirts and other linen garments.

There is no such thing as rice paper. What is known as such is the pith of a plant cut in thin slices used by the Chinese for painting pictures.—Science Gist.

Ireland Called Many Names.

Few countries have suffered so many changes of name as Ireland. In the time of Ptolemy the island was known as Scotia. Diodorus Siculus calls the island Iria, or Iri. In the "De Mundo," credited by some scholars to Aristotle, it is called Irenne; in the "Argonautica" of Orpheus it appears as Irlus; Strabo calls it Irenne; Caesar, Tacitus and Pliny mention it as Hibernia; Mela called it Juverna. The native names in Celtic are Ir, Eri, or Erin. Plutarch mentions it under the name of Ogygia. The name Ireland is no doubt derived from the native Ir or Eri, but when it came into general use is a question concerning which scholars are much at variance.

Judicial Levity.

J. TURNER MOREHEAD FAILED.

Creditors are Located in a Number of North Carolina Towns.

New York, Mar. 8.—A big failure was announced here today, and created some surprise when petitions in bankruptcy, were filed by J. Turner Morehead, occupation, smelter of 97 Cedar street, New York.

His liabilities are placed at $421,417. The assets, of $42,853, are nominal. His debts were contracted in 1893, and the majority of creditors are in North Carolina.

Bad debts are alleged to have forced him to the wall.

John L. Morehead, of Charlotte is given as a creditor for $33,000. Other creditors are at Wilmington, Spray, Greensboro, Reidsville, Lynchburg, Winston, Leaksville, Salem, Matamoras, Madison, Goldsboro and Raleigh.—Special to Charlotte Observer.

Trained Show Dogs.

"Considering the investment, trained dogs are one of the most profitable attractions in the vaudeville line," said an old time showman, here with one of the current theatrical companies. "I suppose there are at least 13 or 15 troupes of them scattered over the country," he continued, "and the good ones easily average a couple of hundred a week and expenses. As there are no salaries to pay for the dogs and no hotel bills for anybody except the proprietor and one keeper the returns are rather handsome. Nowadays they have the sudden death of any of the animals can be readily remedied by telegraphing to New York, where several men make a specialty of keeping standard trick dogs in stock."

"A dog troupe usually consists of five performers, one of which is a star. The star probably costs $150 and the others about $50 apiece. Mongrels of no intrinsic worth are generally selected for training purposes, because they learn as quickly as the thoroughbreds and if anything happens to them the loss is so much lighter. There is a standard series of tricks which they are taught to do, so that one can easily replace another, and a little ingenuity on the part of the showman supplies the variety to the programme."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ancient Chains.

In an interesting article on the subject of chains an English writer points to the fact that notwithstanding the frequent mention of chain in the Bible the article is comparatively new. The same author says:

"Some authorities give the Britons credit for originating the cable chain because Julius Caesar is recorded as having been unable to cut the cables of the Gaul's vessels, 'as they were made of iron.' This may have been a chain in the present acceptance of the term, but it is doubtful, because the first patent for chainmaking was obtained in England in 1684 by a blacksmith named Philip White. The patent was for 14 years, and in consideration of it White had to pay $5 in lawful money yearly 'at the Exchequer, Westminster, at the Feast of the Blessed Virgin and Saint Michael the Archangel by even and equal process."

"His patent is described as follows: 'A way for the wearing of ships with iron charynes by finding out the true heating (preparing and tempering of iron for that purpose) and that he hath now attained to the true use of the said charynes and that the same will be for the great saving of cordage and safety of shippers and will redound to good of our Common Wealth."

Opening of the Social Season and Inauguration of the Magnificent

New York & Florida Limited Service

JANUARY 16, 1899.

The opening of the Florida season will be signalized this year as usual by the placing in service of the "New York and Florida Limited" between New York and St. Augustine, Fla. This is acknowledged to be the finest train in the world, in its appointments, luxury and detail of finish, and the first of these trains was constructed by the Pullman company for the use of the President of the United States on official tours.

"The New York and Florida Limited" leaves New York daily except Sunday at 11:50 a. m., via the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Southern Railway, Florida Central & Peninsular R. R. and the Florida East Coast Railway, and reaches St. Augustine at 2:20 p. m. the following day, making the run, which exceeds 1,000 miles, in little more than twenty-four hours. No train has attracted so much attention, and its fame has been heralded wherever railroading is known. It is composed of Pullman compartment cars, each room being finished in different woods and supplied with private lavatory and toilet; Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars of the latest pattern and finish; a royal club car for the gentlemen; an observation car with a handsome drawing room at its rear opening on to a wide platform; a library car, and dining car, in which the service and the cuisine rank with the finest New York hotels. This "New York and Florida Limited" runs through solid to St. Augustine with the exception of one car which is detached at Columbia, S. C., and goes through to Aiken, which it reaches at 9:35 the next morning after leaving New York, and Augusta at 9:50. Brunswick and Jekyll Island are conveniently reached by this train at 12 o'clock noon through the perfect connections afforded at Everett, Ga.

There are two other fine trains between New York and Florida via "The Florida Short Line," one the "Washington and Southwestern Vestibule Limited," leaving New York at 4:20 p. m. daily, and the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York at 12:05 midnight. The former train carries through Pullman drawing room sleeping cars between New York, Jacksonville and Tampa, and also offers Pullman sleeping car service between New York and Augusta, Ga., with connections for Aiken, Brunswick and Jekyll Island. The latter carries through drawing room sleeping cars between New York and Jacksonville, connecting with parlor car service to points on F. C. & P. R. R. and F. E. C. Ry. Dining cars are operated on all trains of the Southern Ry. "The Florida Short Line" in connection with the Florida East Coast Railway to Miami offers the most direct, quickest and delightful service to Nassau, Havana and Key West. For full information, reservations, etc., apply to J. L. Adams, G. E. A., F. C. & P. R. R., 353 Broadway, New York, or to A. S. Thwait, E. P. A., Southern Ry., 271 Broadway, New York.

Barbers of Austria.

Austrians are very methodical in many things, and they take no chances with their barbers. The Barbers and Wigmakers' union of Vienna sees to it that only competent persons are admitted to practice. Barbers must, of course, have a thorough knowledge of the practical side of the subject, and they are questioned as to keeping razors, brushes, etc. clean, and the general idea of antisepsis must be well understood by them. When the barbers appear before the committee, they have their razors dulled on a pine plank, and they must then sharpen them and proceed to shave a subject.

These subjects are recruited from the poor and from among those who are fond of getting something for nothing. If the apprentice performs his work to the satisfaction of the judges, a certificate is issued to him, and he must serve as an apprentice for two years before he can open a shop of his own. Provision is also made for women barbers who desire to carry on the business of their husbands. To do this the women have to be enrolled as apprentices for three years, and they must exhibit a great proficiency before they are allowed to open an establishment of their own. The barber business in Austria is not particularly lucrative, as one can be shaved for 5 cents and have one's hair cut for about 8 cents.—Scientific American

How Queen Bees Dined.

The setting out of the dinner of Queen Elizabeth was a ceremonious function. First came a table with a red cloth, followed by a gentleman carrying a tablecloth, which, after they had knelt reverently three times, was spread upon the table. Then came two others, one with a rod, the other with a salt-cellar, a plate and a glass. They knelt three times, placed the things on the table, knelt again and retired. Next came a lady in waiting, followed by a second. The first lady, dressed in white, after kneeling three times, approached the table and solemnly rubbed the plates with the palms of her hands. Then entered 24 yeomen of the guard, clad in scarlet, and each carrying a dish of gold. These dishes were placed upon the table while the lady taster gave to each of the guards a taste from the dish he had brought in. In the next possible moment these guards were selected from the tallest and stoutest men in all England. At the close of this ceremony a number of unmarried ladies appeared and with great solemnity lifted the various dishes and carried them to the queen in her private apartments. The queen dined and supped alone, with few attendants, and it was seldom that any one was admitted at this time and then only at the intercession of some one in power.

She Got the Money.

In Berlin they tell a pretty story about Frau Blumenthal, the popular wife of the witty playwright and director of the Lessing theater. Herr Blumenthal, it appears, had great misgivings regarding the success of his new piece, "Zum Weissen Roese." One day, when he was nearly ready to throw the manuscript aside, his wife, who did not share his view, said to him: "If I had only 20 marks ($3) for every 1,000 it will bring you I should be quite content." "All right, you shall have them," said Herr Blumenthal. "Zum Weissen Roese" (White Horse Inn) met with an immense success. Every night the frau director—for in Germany the wife shares in her husband's titles if not in his tin—went to the cashier and levied on her 20 marks per 1,000. On one occasion, after the piece had been running some months, bad weather caused a falling off in the receipts below the $1,000 mark, and consequently Frau Blumenthal was not entitled to her "tantieme" of 20 marks. "How much have you taken?" she asked the cashier. "Only 997 marks," was the reply. "Well, give me the 3 marks I am owed," said Frau Blumenthal, laying down the coin. "Now you have 1,000 marks, give me my 20." She got them.

Both Helped.

Zimmerman, the eminent physician, was sent from Havana to attend Frederick the Great in his last illness. One day the king said to him: "You have, I presume, sir, helped many a man into another world?" This was rather a bitter pill for the doctor, but the dose he gave the king in return was a judicious mixture of truth and flattery.

"Not so many as your majesty, nor with so much honor to myself."

Where the Cars Are Buried.

It is not generally known that the remains of all the cars of Russia since Peter the Great lie in a memorial chapel built on one of the islands of the Neva. All the cenotaphs are exactly alike, each being a block of white marble, without any decoration whatever. The only distinction by which one is marked in the name of the deceased emperor.

Men Who Wear Corsets.

More men wear corsets than is generally believed. A certain London corset maker states that he makes hundreds every year and recently had in hand one pair of pink satin decorated with flower-de-luce and another of blue green satin adorned with lotus flowers, one of these being for an officer in India.

SHE SANG FOR DEATH.

The Pathos and Tragedy of Emma Abbott, the Famous Actress.

One night in the city of Denver, located at the foot and in plain view of the Rocky mountains, Emma Abbott was billed to appear in "Faust." In the same city a most attractive and beautiful 18-year-old girl, belonging to one of the wealthiest families, lay in the last stages of that fell enemy of the human race—consumption. Some weeks before the arrival of the company she said to those around her: "Oh, I hope the sun will shine and the weather will be warm and genial, so I can hear Miss Abbott sing once more. I think I could then pass away peacefully and without one single regret." But there came with the queen of the lyric stage a northern hurricane—with the very air charged with icicles, which penetrated the lungs. Some one told Miss Abbott of the grievous disappointment of the dying girl. She went to the opera house and never sang more sweetly, and as soon as it was over and the audience dismissed called her carriage and directed it to drive to the home of the young lady.

The scene which followed was worthy of the finest burial scene ever witnessed by the grand old masters. There lay the dying angel, with pallid lips, hectic cheeks and lustrous eyes and the light of immortal beauty shining upon her face. Standing beside her, in one of her richest robes, was the girl who had been the light of the city, sparkling with pearls, rubies and diamonds, stood the almost divine mistress of earthly melody.

The first piece rendered was "The Old Folks at Home," and then followed "I Know My Redeemer Liveth." The finale of this weird scene was "Rock of Ages Grief For Me, Let Me Hide Myself In Thee." And then Miss Abbott bent over the frail form and shed her eternal farewell. Soon after the spirit passed into the wild winds which rang through the wild mountains near by—set sail for that haven from which the first homeward bound bark is yet to be seen—the stainless soul wafted to the stainless heavens by the sweetest music ever heard on earth—the melodies of paradise birds.

Miss Abbott returned to her room at the hotel and retired. Some time during the night she awoke with a pain in the left lung. It rapidly grew worse. A physician was summoned. Then another, and another, who applied every remedy they could command. All to no purpose. It was a triumph for the worst form. The black camel was kneeling at her door. Angels of the heavenly choir had that night listened to her voice in the sickroom and sent for her to come home to them.

In three days that voice which had so often raised the souls of men and women to the noblest, the grandest, heights in holy ecstasy, was forever stilled in death—gone forth into—the night.

So fades the summer cloud away,
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er,
So gently shuts the eye of day,
So dies the wave along the shore.

GERMAN MILITARY SERVICE.

A Curious Method by Which It May Be Acquired.

Anybody can emigrate from Germany before he is 17 years old without running the risk, in case he should return, of being forced to join the army, but he will be allowed to remain only nine months in Germany. If he stays longer he becomes a German citizen and must do military service. If he leaves when he has been a little less than nine months in the country and stays away for two or three weeks he can return without running any danger and can stay another nine months. If he does this every nine months he can live as long as he likes in Germany.

As soon as a man is 17 years old he cannot leave Germany without serving in the army. He can, however, get permission to leave the country until he is 20 years old, if somebody is willing to give bond that he will return and serve his term.

In case a man forfeits his bond he cannot return to his fatherland before he is 45 years old, as he would be promptly arrested and sentenced to serve a longer term than the original one. After a man is 45 years old he can go back to Germany without being punished and live there as long as he likes.

In case a deserter is caught in Germany before he is 45 years old he is sentenced to two or three years' imprisonment in a fortress and all his personal property is confiscated.—New York Herald.

An Eye to Business.

The doctor hurried in and called the druggist to one side.

"I've just been called to attend the Croesus baby," he said, "and I've given a prescription that calls for nothing but mercury. That's the only way to make them think I'm any good, the medicine's any good and you're any good, and I want to keep their business."—Chicago Post

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by C. E. Holt n

The first edition of "The Empire of the South" having been exhausted, a second edition will be ready for distribution by or about March 10, 1899.

It is a handsome volume of about 200 pages descriptive of the South and its vast resources, beautifully illustrated, and regarded by critics as the most complete production of its kind that has ever been published.

Persons wishing to secure this work will please enclose to the undersigned 25 cents per copy, which amount approximates the cost of delivery. Remittances may be made in stamps or otherwise.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back or weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by using Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures constipation, headache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at C. E. Holt n's drug store.

DEWEY BREAKING DOWN

Under the Strain and Has Aged Much Since Arriving at Manila.

Vancouver, Mar. 8.—Capt. Fraser, late of the Imperial forces, was a passenger on the "Oriental," a steamer arriving here today from Manila. He visited Manila and made a careful study of the conditions there. He said it will take some time for the Americans to down the Filipinos, possibly two years. "The Filipinos do a lot of getting out of the way," he says, "and keep up an irritating sharp-shooting. I dined with Dewey. He is in poor health and certainly should be ordered home. He has aged much; his hair is very white. He is an unassuming man, and a brave commander. The strain which he has undergone is very great."

Neat

The graceful, delicate and exceedingly neat compliment paid Lieutenant Dan Godfrey and his British Guard Band by the Marine Band of the United States at Washington, D. C., is one to be remembered by the gentlemen in scarlet.

While the act was graceful, delicate and neat, it could not surpass the exquisite harmony which is blended into our new patterns of Easter Neckwear of the famous Rutus Waterhouse make.

Sergeant Manufacturing Co.

One of the quietest and yet one of the busiest manufacturing concerns in Greensboro is the Sergeant Manufacturing Company, foundrymen and manufacturers of saw mills. They are always taxed to their fullest capacity to keep up with orders, and almost daily ship large quantities of their goods to other states. Yesterday they shipped a saw mill to Ashton, S. C., and on Tuesday shipped one to Wilkesville, Ala. The merits of their saw mills are well known in Alabama, to which state most of their output is shipped.

Please permit us to ask you a very pointed question: Have you a Universal Food Chopper? By this we do not mean a meat grinder, but a Chopper, which takes the place of chopping bowl and beater. It chops meat, of course, but it does more. You can chop ham, coconut, or bread instead of grating it. You can—but we can't tell it all here. Our booklet gives full information. Free. You will have use for it every day in the year. It is very simple and very cheap. Please call and let us show it to you. Yours truly,
